

HOW AI EARNS TRUST

I won't let AI make a real decision until it's done the task a few hundred times.

Here's why. →

THE MYTH

It's the opposite of what people picture

People hear "AI agency" and imagine handing the machine the keys on day one.

FAST VS. SLOW

Grunt work is quick. Judgment isn't.

The boring, repetitive work gets automated fast.

The judgment gets earned slowly — if at all.

REAL EXAMPLE

The intake bot we're building

For a law firm. And the plan is deliberately slow.

PHASE 1

A human corrects every draft

At first, an attorney reviews every intake the bot drafts. Every single one.

The bot proposes. A human corrects.

THE REPS

A few hundred rounds later

That feedback compounds — until the bot starts to approach the attorney's own judgment.

ITS TOOLKIT

The firm's playbook, built in

It has the firm's playbook and the same reference materials the top immigration firms rely on.

EARNING ROPE

Only then does it earn real trust

Not before. Trust is a number of reps — not a setting you flip.

THE HONEST VERSION

AI is great at the reps

That's the part most vendors skip. AI is incredible at the reps — it's not a shortcut around them.

FREE AI AUDIT CALL

Not sure where AI is worth trusting?

That's the whole audit — we'll map where it's ready, and where it isn't.
